August 15, 2018 Update

Recently I took a few days away from the store, stuffed my suitcase with sewing projects and flew off to beautiful Green Bay Wisconsin. My friend Sheri has a beautiful, well equipped sewing room with the most incredible view of the bay. We had the greatest time sewing, eating and of course shopping in other quilt shops. I came back with several new models that I have wanted to make and some I had not been planning to make, but saw them in a shop and just had to have pattern and fabric. Yes....even I succumbed to the temptation. As a result we have several new models to entice you with. Such as this little Jo Morton mini quilt from the book Jo's Little Favorites. We also have kits available.

Another little project I whipped up is this cute little flannel self binding receiving blanket made from the I Love You To The Moon and Back fabric line.

This cute little Kindness Tote was also one of my retreat projects. It has a CD included with the pattern that you use to print your panel directly onto fabric sheets.

We have received several new Christmas border prints. I handed Terri a stack of fabric and told her to come up with some ideas. She made several of the Easy Striped Table runners. Then she decided to invent something a bit different using the stripes and finishing off the 2 ends in a scalloped pattern. Check out all the new Christmas projects we have available.

Several new Christmas collections came in while I was gone including this beautiful metallic line-Christmas Village from Sudio E.

August 15, 2018 Update

These beautiful placemats- Under the Pines from Wilmington are printed on a panel and would make a really quick and easy Christmas project.

We have had these Riley Blake fat quarter crayon boxes in for a while so Ruth took one plus the new book- Make Baby Quilts and stitched up this colorful little project. I love the way it came out.

I was super excited when American Jane's new fabric Play All Day came in from Moda. It has a really sweet panel and there are 4 different designs on each of the 5 coordinating pieces. You will get a lot of bang for your buck with this fabric.

Olde Hickory is one of the most fun quilts I have made in a while. When I got done piecing the top I had leftovers so I made a piano key border that really set the quilt off. We also have kits available or you can make one from fat quarters that you may have. We cut extra fat quarters so you can fill in with some colors you may be missing.

August 15, 2018 Update

Come celebrate Central Kansas Quilt Shop Hop's 20th Anniversary with us Oct 4-7th. We have the t-shirts available now for sale. Edita Sitar designed our fabric and it has been getting rave reviews. It is now available for preorder. Please let us know what you want and we will have it cut and ready for you to pick up during the event. Our quilt pictures should go up on the website in mid September. Im working on mine now and it is going to be beautiful!

Central Kansas Yarn Hop

Oct 16-20

Tues-Thur 10am-5:30 pm Fri-Sat 9am-7pm

This is our first year to participate and we have been working hard on some new knit and crochet models for the Hop. Check out the website www.centranksyarnhop.net for more details.

This gorgeous shawl- A Sister Love just has to be seen in person to truly appreciate the design and the texture of the pattern. The yarn Chauntel used is Linie Starwool lace.

Ive been talking a lot about Christmas projects and fabrics but it is still summer. For those of you who want to knit socks but are allergic to wool we have this new yarn from Regia- Tutti Frutti. It knits up beautifully and with the fiber content of cotton and poly you can kiss your wool allergy goodbye. Bonus is its machine wash and dry.

Well enough for now. Id better get back to stitching on my Shop Hop quilt as we will be photographing them in a couple weeks. Also Im trying to get a new shawl done for Yarn Hop.

I could use another retreat! Happy stitching ~Lisa
